John Foster Dulles Addresses State Department Employees

Description
Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, bare headed in a chill wind, stood on the rear steps of the main State Department Building to speak to several thousand employees assembled in a parking lot. He told them he always felt there is "no service one can render to his country that is higher or more valuable" than to be in the foreign service or the State Department. From: Beth Gore.

Date(s)
January 28, 1953

Accession Number 99-360

8x10 inches (21x26 cm) Black & White

Keywords Cabinet officers Diplomatic and consular service Speeches, addresses, etc.

People Pictured Dulles, John Foster, 1888-1959

Rights The Library is unaware of any copyright claims to this item; use at your own risk.

Note: If you use this image, rights assessment and attribution are your responsibility.

Credit: Harris & Ewing Harry S. Truman Library & Museum.

Attention media: Please make note of this item's accession number. Print out this page and retain it for your permissions records before downloading this image file for possible publication. Library staff cannot sign permissions forms or provide additional paperwork. The Library charges no usage fees for downloaded images.