Mediterranean Sea near Monaco after World War I

Description
This is a view of the Mediterranean Sea near Monaco. There is an inn about two thirds of the way up and this is where we got these cards. It certainly was a wonderful sight to look off across the sea and you have no idea how far one can see. From an album of Lorain H. Cunningham, who served in the 129th Field Artillery during World War I and was a friend of Harry S. Truman.
