Japanese Optical Goods Factory in Mukden, Manchuria

Description
Japanese Optical Goods Factory in Mukden, Manchuria with unidentified men looking on. One of the few precision lens grinders left remaining after Soviet occupancy. The only other type of machines found remaining were lens polishing tables. Photograph taken during the U.S. Reparations Mission. Edwin Pauley was the U.S. Ambassador on the Allied Reparations Committee from 1945-47 (the committee that assessed the reparations the Axis powers could afford to pay the victors).
