Constructing a Well in Iran

Description
Near the village of Mayan, Iran, unidentified villagers are harvesting building materials from an ancient caravan station to construct a standpipe for a well. The shallow well was constructed with the assistance of the Point Four program and the Technical Cooperation Administration so that villagers would have a better source of clean water.

Date(s)
1953

Accession Number 72-111

7.8x8.2 inches Black & White

Related Collection Andrews, Stanley Papers

Keywords Buildings International relations Construction projects Building materials International development

HST Keywords Point Four; Technical Cooperation Administration

Rights Public Domain - This item is in the public domain and can be used freely without further permission.

Note: If you use this image, rights assessment and attribution are your responsibility.

Credit: Department of State Harry S. Truman Library & Museum.

Attention media: Please make note of this item's accession number. Print out this page and retain it for your permissions records before downloading this image file for possible publication. Library staff cannot sign permissions forms or provide additional paperwork. The Library charges no usage fees for downloaded images.