A Photograph of A River, Somewhere in World War I France

Description
This is a photograph of a wide river taken during World War I. An unidentified individual can be seen in the upper right corner holding what appears to be a rope. The bottom part of the photograph is overexposed. The photograph is part of a collection belonging to Harry S. Truman from the time he spent in France during World War I.

Date(s) ca.
April 1918

Accession Number 2016-982

3.1 x 2.1 inches Black & White

Related Collection Daniel, Margaret Truman and E. Clifton Daniel Papers

Keywords Rivers World War, 1914-1918

Rights Public Domain - This item is in the public domain and can be used freely without further permission.

Note: If you use this image, rights assessment and attribution are your responsibility.

Harry S. Truman Library & Museum.

Attention media: Please make note of this item's accession number. Print out this page and retain it for your permissions records before downloading this image file for possible publication. Library staff cannot sign permissions forms or provide additional paperwork. The Library charges no usage fees for downloaded images.