A Concrete Reservoir Built Near Industrial Areas Important to the War Effort in Japan

Description
This is a view of a concrete reservoir built near industrial areas important to the war effort in Japan. During a fire, firefighters would suction water from the reservoir to extinguish the fire. Military vehicles are parked at the edge. An officer stands by his officers' vehicle in the center right. From Basil Rice.

Date(s)
October 1945

Accession Number 2018-134

4x5 inches (10x13 cm) Black & White

Keywords Fire extinction

Rights The Library is unaware of any copyright claims to this item; use at your own risk.

Note: If you use this image, rights assessment and attribution are your responsibility.

Harry S. Truman Library & Museum.

Attention media: Please make note of this item's accession number. Print out this page and retain it for your permissions records before downloading this image file for possible publication. Library staff cannot sign permissions forms or provide additional paperwork. The Library charges no usage fees for downloaded images.