

Moving to the Farm

In 1887 Harry, his parents and his little brother, Vivian, moved to his grandparent's farm in Grandview, Missouri.

Harry loved to spend time with his grandparents. Grandfather Young would often brag about what a special little boy Harry was.

The Grandview farm was a wonderful place for a young child. There was so much to do and see. Harry had fields to explore, animals to take care of, and chores to do. He even had a pony to ride!

Follow Harry as he rides his pony from the Grandview Farmhouse, through the prairie grasses and back home again.

